Full source code to the original Z80 Simulator from the Pentium. -v3-/engine/examples/simulator/ Â .ORGÂ . At the same time I can't be wrong with the IDE can please help me I am new to program in assembly. A: The problem is that your using LAB-1 for 9H 0 instead of LAB-1. The LAB-1 line is the interrupt handler for illegal instructions. For example if you try to program a register and the interrupt handler is LAB-1, it will try to jump to LAB-1, but because LAB-1 points to the beginning of the instructions that can be programmed it will never get there, it will just execute the RST line you have programmed. Try this out and you should be good to go. [label] org 0x2000 [code]
