A source has revealed that Disney has registered the domain name aladdinmovie.com to trademark the title of its upcoming live-action remake of its 1992 animated classic The Lion King. The company submitted the trademark application on June 22, which was filed the day after The Jungle Book opened in the U.S. In a request filed with the United States Patent and Trademark Office, the Walt Disney Studios revealed the trademark on July 12. The source further says that it is believed that Disney has registered the name Aladdin and the title The Lion King in order to protect the title's "potential goodwill" for a Disney live-action remake of its 1992 animated classic The Lion King. Disney also owns the rights to the animated film Aladdin, which was directed by Guy Ritchie, and starred Will Smith as the Genie. It has not been confirmed whether Disney plans to base the live-action remake of The Lion King on the 1995 animated film Aladdin. In the movie Aladdin, Will Smith played the role of a male genie who grants wishes to a young street thief named Aladdin (Jasmine's younger brother) and his girlfriend, Jasmine (Tamara Mounsey). The film opened on June 13, 1992, and became a box-office success. The new live-action remake of The Lion King is currently scheduled to be released on July 19, 2019. Aladdin was directed by Guy Ritchie, and produced by Kathleen Kennedy and John Lasseter. The story was written by Jeff Nathanson, and the screenplay was written by Chad Oman, Tim Burton, and John August. The film was produced by Walt Disney Pictures, and was released by Walt Disney Pictures on June 13, 1992. It was distributed by Walt Disney Pictures in the United States and United Kingdom, and by Buena Vista International in Canada, while it was distributed by Buena Vista International in other countries. It was released on DVD by Walt Disney Home Video on June 9, 2004. Advertisement About me Hello! I am Rachel, a 31 year old aspiring attorney from Tennessee, and I am a #serialquilter!
