The former ChromePlus is an excellent browser that was truly thought of keeping our users most comfortable, with full support for security and privacy concerns. It's in a shape of portable application with good performance, but it will be good if they add some new useful and advanced features for our users. The portable version of the chrome-browser comes with great features including Active X-Controls, Floating Frames, Mouse Gestures, Timer, Signature, Toolbar and Customizable Toolbar. It's easy to open or download, run on any computer or even the mobile with just double click What's cool about this browser is the ability to convert it into many different versions. First, convert it to a portable version of the application. Second, convert it to a basic version, which is like a stripped-down version of the porting browser. Third, convert it to a full-featured browser, which includes bookmarks, storage, user level support, cookie control, etc. CoolNovo Portable Features: - Portable version without any installation - Speedy browser, quick response time - Mouse Gestures: Left mouse click to close the tab, Right mouse click to reload; Drag to switch the focus between tabs - Active X controls: Close tab, reload, cache, etc. - We can use it in the Security Mode - Customizable Toolbar: We can use the Minimize, Restore, and Close button - User level support: We can use the "Browse New Folder" command to locate the new folder - Storage: Private data is not stored on the hard disk. - Speedy Browser - Speedy Browser - Speedy Browser - Speedy Browser - Speedy Browser - Speedy Browser - Speedy Browser - Speedy Browser If you are a fan of converting your browsers to portable versions then you must download the CoolNovo portable browser. We've seen many a Star Wars TV series talk about an epic war that takes place over a large portion of the galaxy and has a million planets and species, but the upcoming CBS All Access series Star Trek: Discovery will bring a new, more sci-fi-inclined take on the original crew's story. In Discovery, humans have founded a great nation called the Federation, which has spread into the galaxy and built a number of space-faring outposts on planets around the stars. It's a peaceful place that appears to have been the recipient of an unfortunate historical trigger event. Recently, Matt Rhoades (who plays astrophysicist Lt. Hugh Culber), actor Naveen Andrews, and director Mike McMahan got together to talk about how Discovery relates to the rest of the franchise. Most of what they said centered on what Discovery was at its very core, and what it was trying to recreate when it came to setting and tone.
