Cadence Desktop Pro is a simple application that analyzes your music collection for BPM and converts it to iTunes playlists that can be imported into the music player. The app is free, but there are some limitations that need to be taken into consideration: - The app cannot be used to create or edit playlists. - There is a low quality audio player included in the app that will not match the quality of the songs analyzed by Cadence Desktop Pro. - The free version of the app can only analyze the music albums of a single iTunes library and cannot analyze music from multiple libraries. - Once created, the playlists (if any) cannot be updated. How to use Cadence Desktop Pro: - Install and launch the application. - The Cadence Desktop Pro application will load all songs from your iTunes library. - A general view will be displayed with the songs that will be analyzed and the BPMs of each song. You can check the box next to the songs you want to analyze and click on 'Analyze Songs'. - The app will start analyzing your library and display a progress bar. When done, the app will display your selected songs with their respective BPMs. There will be three tabs: 'Analyze Songs', 'Playlist' and 'Album'. - On the 'Playlist' tab, you'll be able to see a list of playlists created by Cadence Desktop Pro. - On the 'Album' tab, the information about each song in the analyzed album will be displayed in a table. - On the 'Analyze Songs' tab, you'll be able to see the BPMs of all the songs in your library. - The results can be saved to a CSV file. - The app can be used to analyze different tracks or albums from a single library. If you want to create a playlist from the BPMs found in your library, you need to pay for Cadence Desktop Pro. Why use Cadence Desktop Pro: - The app analyzes all the songs in your library, so it will not analyze any in your iTunes collection. - The app has a BPM analyzer with high accuracy, so all the songs will be found properly. - Analyzing songs with the app is extremely simple, so you won't have to use any additional software. - The app is free, so you can analyze your entire music collection or check for any song that may be
