Really curious to see what everyone is using. Re: Does anyone have a different or additional audio/music storage. Really curious to see what everyone is using. I have a raspberry pi and a 32GB

Fender K-Cup. They are connected through an external hub. Every sound file is in its own folder and it is played randomly. It's not that different or anything like that, just I'm not sure if I should also use a raspberry pi, I really don't want to, I just want to know if there are any better ways to do this.
