FIFA 20 introduced “Evolutions,” new player traits that represent the progression of a real-life footballer. With “Evolutions,” players can be developed with evolving, physical, tactical and mental traits to give more players the ability to fit any playing style. In addition, “Evolutions” give a greater degree of control over how players look and play through the “Formations and Training” customization screen. A wide range of player appearances and styles are now available via custom formations and player traits that can be tailored to all 30 national teams. “Evolutions” also contribute to a greater variety of player appearances and styles by offering more distinctive traits than ever before. Another key feature is the introduction of player ratings, which help players distinguish and develop their potential. Through the introduction of “Player Ratings,” gameplay has been optimized to help you make the correct decision during tough challenges.
